U.S. Troops Move In Berlin Without Soviet Interference

BERLIN (AP)—U.S. trucks and jeeps carrying armed soldiers in battle dress moved across Soviet-occupied territory from Berlin Monday without Soviet interference.

The convoys may have been a U.S. probe of Soviet intentions in the inflamed Berlin crisis. But the U.S. command in Berlin said the troops were headed back to West Germany in a routine replacement operation.

West Berlin border police said it was highly unusual for U.S. troops to travel the 110-mile autobahn from Berlin to West Germany in battle-ready array, with camouflage nets over their steel helmets.

The movement of the troops followed incidents Sunday and early Monday in which Soviet officers turned back U.S. Army military assistance vehicles entering the express highway from Berlin. Three were halted, the last shortly after midnight.

The vehicles are unarmed. They provide help for U.S. travelers who have car or other trouble on the autobahn. The Russians insist the vehicles are not necessary.

At 9 a.m., four jeeps and eight trucks started down the highway. They arrived safely at Helmstedt in West Germany. Three other convoys left before dark. At least one truck had a machine gun mounted on it.

The U.S. Army in Berlin said the troops moving out were part of Co. D, 12th Engineer Battalion, rushed here Aug. 20 on President Kennedy's order to reinforce the Berlin garrison. A spokesman said the movement actually began Sunday and the company was being returned to its base at Mannheim.

They will be replaced by Co. A of the 20th Engineer Battalion, arriving from the United States, the spokesman said. He added that there would be no change in the strength of the 6,500-man American garrison.

Attention shifted to the highway linking West Berlin with the outside world as efforts to solve the tense border-crossing dispute within Berlin itself were taken over by Washington.

The United States, it was reported there, may agree to U.S. civilian officials showing identification to East German police, if Soviet citizens show theirs in West Berlin.

It was American insistence that show their identification to the East Germans that brought U.S. and Soviet tanks muzzle to muzzle in Berlin last weekend.

One reason advanced in Berlin for American readiness to make such a deal is that bringing in Soviet tanks over the weekend proved the U.S. contention that the Soviets actually run East Berlin, not the East Germans.

Witness In Blaney Killing Admits Lying In Testimony

MAYS LANDING, N. J. (AP)—Robert L. Russell admitted Monday that he lied when he said he saw the gangland slaying of Vincent J. Blaney.

The Atlantic County prosecutor's office refused comment on what the admission does to its murder case against Lillian Reis, Philadelphia night club owner, and two other persons charged in connection with Blaney's death.

The county grand jury returned a joint murder indictment last February against Miss Reis, John Berkery of Haddon Township and John Dillon, Philadelphia, largely on the basis of Russell's testimony.

Russell said he had seen the three take part in Blaney's slaying in a Northfield boat yard.

Blaney's chain-weighted body was found in the ocean off Margate in August, 1960. He allegedly was killed to keep him from testifying for the state in the John B. Rich, burglary case in Pottsville, Pa.

Through his attorney, Samuel Epstein, Russell said in court Monday that he had not been present at the murder. He added that he had never seen Berkery or Dillon, and had seen Miss Reis only once or twice in an Atlantic City bar.

Russell's statement said he made up the story because he was an acquaintance of Blaney's and feared the state might try to implicate him in the murder.

The 26-year-old Russell, whose real name is Charles Leap, was in court Monday to be sentenced after convictions on seven charges. He was sentenced to three to five years in prison for car theft, two to three years for escaping from jail, and two to three years on each of five counts of receiving stolen goods. All sentences are to run concurrently.

Berkery was convicted of the Pottsville burglaries and a jury could not agree on a verdict when Miss Reis was tried.

Blaney's brother, Richard Blaney, testified in the trials in which Berkery and two other men were convicted. Before the Reis trial, Richard Blaney was blown up in his own car in Philadelphia.

Bandits Get $19,000 In Bank Heist

PITTSBURGH (AP)—Two heavily dressed bandits, one armed with a black automatic pistol held up the crowded Bloomfield branch of the Pittsburgh National Bank Monday and escaped with $19,800.

A third man reportedly joined the pair in the getaway, driving a red panel truck. An off-duty policeman, Louis Chiarelli, chased the truck in his private auto but was cut off in heavy traffic.

William R. Rock, manager of the bank, said one of the men approached teller Roy Kalb, 65, of the North Side, and handed him a note.

Kalb quoted the note as reading: "Give me all your packaged money from $5 up. Quiet or you're dead."

Kalb said he took all the money out of his cash drawer and put it in a bag. The gunman grabbed the money and joined his partner who was waiting near the center of the lobby as a lookout. Both men fled.

A second teller followed the bandits out of the bank and saw them entering a truck. So did patrolman Chiarelli who gave chase.

"I just wanted to give him the money so he'd get out," Kalb said. Twelve customers and 11 employees were in the bank at the time of the robbery.

Final Degradation Comes:

Stalin's Body Taken In Dishonor From Lenin Tomb

MOSCOW (AP) — The Communist party has banished Joseph Stalin's remains from its hallowed place beside V. I. Lenin in the tomb on Red Square.

It was a final degradation of the man who had exercised iron and despotic control over the party and the whole Soviet Union for 25 years; who was hailed up until his death eight years ago by current Premier Khrushchev as "our great leader and teacher, the inspirer and organizer of all our victories."

But times have changed. At the current 22nd congress of the Communist party, Khrushchev has brought out for the whole Soviet public to hear, the disclosures of Stalin's crimes that Khrushchev made in his secret speech to the 20th congress in 1956. Murderer, torturer and bungler are only a few of the epithets Khrushchev and his followers have hurled at the late dictator.

As they spoke, it became obvious it would be impossible for Stalin's body to remain in the tomb Nov. 7, when his successors review the parade in Red Square celebrating the 44th anniversary of the Bolshevik Revolution.

This became perfectly clear

Saturday when the delegates, including Khrushchev, endorsed a proposal to build a monument in Moscow to Stalin's victims. It would seem impossible, even in the Soviet Union, to memorialize both persecutor and persecuted.

So 5,000 cheering delegates and officials at the congress endorsed a resolution ordering the removal of Stalin's body from the red granite and black marble mausoleum.

The resolution said the further presence of Stalin's body in the tomb with Lenin was "impossible" because of "Stalin's serious violation of Lenin's behests, abuse of power, mass persecution of honest Soviet people and other action stemming from the personality cult."

No mention was made of what disposition will be made of Stalin's body.

The stage for the latest disgrace to Stalin was set over the weekend with Khrushchev's speech to the party congress Friday declaring "thousands of absolutely innocent people" perished in Stalin's purges before World War II. For the first time, the Soviet press, in publishing Khrushchev's speech, branded Stalin a tyrant and murderer.

Moscow students then were reported demanding Stalin's body be removed from the tomb. The tomb was suddenly closed Sunday, "for repairs."

In this setting, Ivan Spiridonov, first secretary of the party in the Leningrad region, rose before the congress to propose removal of the body from the tomb. The presence of Stalin's body beside Lenin, declared Spiridonov, "is incompatible with the acts of lawlessness committed by Stalin in the period of the cult of personality."

The resolution was promptly endorsed by the Moscow delegation, in whose territorial jurisdiction the tomb is situated, and by a representative of the delegation from Georgia, Stalin's birthplace.

Stalin's body was put in the tomb March 3, 1933, four days after his death. Since then millions of Soviet citizens and others have walked through this portal between armed guards to look at the bodies hated in a yellowish pink light, both enclosed in glass, Stalin to the left of Lenin.

The tomb rises three stories, with a king of turret on top, on one side of Red Square next to the Kremlin wall. It was completed in 1930 to house the embalmed body of Lenin, who died in January 1924.

World Decries Soviet Superbomb As Utter Disregard Of Mankind

Stevenson Hits Action In UN Assembly

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)

—The United States and other Western countries Monday accused the Soviet Union of showing cynical disregard of the United Nations and mankind in general by testing its massive superbomb.

They were told in reply that the Soviet Union conducted its test series in order to prevent by sheer strength a nuclear war over Berlin that could come at any moment.

"The world has taken a great leap backward toward anarchy and disaster," declared U.S. ambassador Adlai E. Stevenson in touching off a wave of denunciations of the Russians in the assembly's main political committee.

F. H. Corner, delegate from New Zealand, raised the possibility that the size of the Soviet blast may have even surprised its testers. Referring to some estimates that it may have been as high as 75 megatons, Corner asked: "Was this increase an accident?"

At a news conference British Minister of State J.B. Godber described the Soviet test as barbarous. He said Britain would support any U.N. move to censure the Russians but would not initiate such action.

Semyon K. Tsarapkin, the Soviet delegate, did not mention the size of the blast in replying to Stevenson.

He accused the United States of increasing pressure in Berlin to the point where a nuclear war could come at any moment. To prevent such a war, he added, the Soviet Union needed all its strength—and that is why Moscow resumed its current test series.

Stevenson referred to the latest Soviet explosion as "apparently even larger than 50 megatons." He said the day of the test would be long remembered "for a display of violence on a scale unheard of in human history to this time."

By holding the test, he said, the Soviet Union acted in cynical disregard of last Friday's U.N. General Assembly resolution approved by a vote of 87-11 appealing to Moscow not to test a 50-megaton bomb.

"By this act," he added, "the Soviet Union has added injury to insult. They broke the moratorium on nuclear weapons testing. They have raised atmospheric pollution to new heights. They have started a race for more deadly weapons."

Tsarapkin asserted that the United States in dropping A-bombs on Hiroshima and Nagasaki in World War II was guilty of an act against humanity.

Stevenson retorted that the Soviet Union, a U.S. ally in that war, failed to protest the Japanese bombing. He added:

"Indeed, if I am not mistaken, when Stalin was informed at Potsdam that the United States had the atom bomb, he replied: 'I hope you use it.'"

He said the Soviet blast had no purpose except to intimidate. He asserted "if this is what Mr. Tsarapkin calls 'Soviet realism,' God help us all escape from Russian realism."

Deputy Foreign Minister Hans Engen of Norway said the Soviet Union sparked the Berlin crisis, then used it as a pretext for resuming nuclear tests.

SAYS REDS PUSHING WORLD TOWARD DISASTER—Adlai Stevenson, U. S. Ambassador to United Nations, tells General Assembly's Political Committee meeting that the Soviet Union is pushing the world toward disaster by exploding its massive super-bomb. Soviet delegate S. K. Tsarapkin, right, replied it had acted to prevent the U. S. from launching nuclear war. Seated between them are United Kingdom's J. P. Godber, second from left, and Omar Loufti of United Arab Republic. (AP Wirephoto)

Russia Calls On Finland To Join In 'Defense Measures'

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet Union Monday called on Finland to join in defense measures against what it termed a mounting military threat from West Germany.

In one of the strongest notes to the Helsinki government in years, Moscow also included harsh attacks against Finland's Scandinavian neighbors and accused them of complicity with West German militarism.

Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko handed the note to Finnish Ambassador Eero Vuori. It urged immediate consultations on defense measures under terms of the 1947 Soviet-Finnish pact.

The demand appeared to be a first step toward bringing the little country of 4.5 million people into line with the Warsaw Pact military bloc, possibly for establishment of Soviet military bases on Finnish soil.

Under the 1947 treaty the Soviet Union, which invaded Finland in 1939, leased the Porkkala base near Helsinki for 50 years. But the base was turned back to Finland five years ago.

Moscow's note cited "rising West German militarism" as the reason for joint defense talks.

It said West Germany is hiding behind the North Atlantic Treaty

Organization flag and trying to get nuclear weapons, and alleged that West German revenge-seekers already have received bases from Scandinavian members of NATO.

The note accused Norway and Denmark of being involved in West German military plots and lashed out at what it called leading circles of Sweden.

Moscow's move appeared to be an attempt to push the Finns into a tight diplomatic corner. Since World War II, Finland has tried to steer a neutral course between East and West, maintaining friendly relations with both.

President Urho Kekkonen recently visited the Soviet Union and now is winding up a tour of the United States.

Finland also has strong historical, economic and cultural ties with the other Scandinavian nations.

Nuclear Blast Incites Anger And Alarm In Free Nations

WASHINGTON (AP) — Russia exploded its vaunted superbomb Monday and the White House denounced the action as a device to incite "fright and panic."

The blast, set off in the face of worldwide pleas against it, brought expressions of anger and alarm throughout the non-Communist world.

In a statement obviously approved by President Kennedy, the White House called it an effort at blackmail that will be repelled "not only by the steadfastness of free men but by the power of the arms which men will use to defend their freedom."

This mightiest of all man-made explosions was estimated in "the order of 50 megatons"—equal to the power of 50 million tons of TNT—as Soviet Premier Khrushchev had proclaimed two weeks ago it would be.

The Atomic Energy Commission said the blast took place early

Monday on the Soviet's arctic testing island, Novaya Zemlya, "in the atmosphere and at about the same estimated altitude of last week's big bomb test — an estimated 25 megaton monster dwarfed by Monday's detonation."

The U.S. announcement also differed from the European report which indicated that the test was conducted at a lower altitude than that of a week ago and had raised fears that the fallout danger might be intensified.

However, the White House said the 50-megaton giant "will produce more radioactive fallout than any previous explosion." And as a great radioactive cloud swept over Siberia on westerly winds various European governments prepared precautions against fallout expected in two to four weeks.

Fallout watchers in 80 places in the United States also increased their vigilance, anticipating that the initial radioactive cloud from Monday's explosion may sweep across this country—as happened after last week's blast.

The U.S. Weather Bureau said wind patterns indicate that fallout from the newest Soviet superbomb is moving southeastward from its point of detonation. The bureau said this could place the new radiation track somewhat east of the fallout cloud of a week ago, which proceeded due south initially and then turned east.

A noted nongovernment U.S. nuclear scientist, Dr. Ralph E. Lapp, commented that he is inclined to believe the new superbomb was a very dirty one which would greatly increase radioactive fallout in the United States next spring.

In a big nuclear blast above ground much of the debris is hurled high into the stratosphere and does not reach the earth until some months later.

Community Chest Workers Urged To Attain Fund Goal

ONE OF THE encouraging notes about what had been billed as "The Victory Dinner" of the 1961-62 Community Chest Fund campaign was that during the dinner at the Penn-Stroud Hotel last night the fund itself climbed from 31 percent to 52 percent of the total necessary to support the services of the 12 member agencies.

Another encouraging note was the presence of 200 of the workers themselves whose efforts have brought into the Community Chest almost $47,000.

"That was the easy money," Daniel Warner, fund campaign chairman, challenged the group to the accompaniment of their audible groans, "now let's get the hard part."

Admitting that no money is easy, he urged the canvassers to give that extra effort to raise the remaining 48 percent.

"Don't take it for granted that people know all about Community Chest agencies," Maxwell Cohen, president of the Chest added, urging workers to take the time to make sure that people realize that this is not "just another drive" but twelve drives in one for 12 agencies serving local people on the local level, and what those services mean not only to the community but to each individual in it.

Eugene Powers of the education department faculty at State Teachers College also had an encouraging word for the workers, who he said went the Good Samaritan one better by giving not only of their money but of themselves.

"You are not only building reservoirs of strength within yourselves, he said," but you are also striking a blow for freedom. By meeting the needs for building a better community in Monroe County, you are raising the standards of the nation and providing the best answer to Communism."

The dinner for the workers was given by Mrs. Gerald O'Neill and the Penn-Stroud Hotel for the 11th year. Dinner music was provided by William Bruf, organist. A girl's trio from Stroud Union

High School sang. The trio includes Kathy Mikels, Phyllis Munson, and Gloria Booker with Leah Paul as accompanist.

Members agencies represented at the dinner were Elmer Morgan and William Vincent representing the Boy Scouts; Mrs. Barbara Gilpin the Child Health Committee; Charles Jones, the Children's Aid Society; Charles Swisher, the General Hospital; Miss Joan Gordon, the new Scranton-Pocono Girl Scout Council; Mrs. Eugene Martin the Guidance Center; Harold Crossdale, the Mental Health Assn.; Major H. G. Baker, the Salvation Army; Mrs. Lorraine Krawsky, the Visiting Nurses Assn.; and John Wilson, the YMCA. Contributions are also given to the USO and Pennsylvania Citizens Assn.

Mrs. Helen Green, acting executive secretary of the Red Cross which shares in the fund campaign at Tobyhanna Signal Depot, was also introduced.

E-L Schedule Change Noted

THE westbound Phoebe Snow of the Erie-Lackawanna Railroad will leave East Stroudsburg at 12:07 p.m. instead of 12:22 p.m. with the changeover to Eastern Standard Time, the railroad said yesterday.

The departure time was incorrectly listed in Saturday's Daily Record.

They point out that virtually all Christmas mailing can be disposed of by following these suggestions.

1. Do your shopping for your Christmas parcels now.

2. Check and revise mailing lists.

3. Mail Christmas parcels promptly. Don't worry about being too early, just mark them "Do Not Open Until Christmas."

4. Buy Christmas cards and address them soon, separating them into local and out-of-town bundles. Hold them for mailing early.

5. Buy plenty of stamps now while post office windows are uncrowded.

For Christmas cards, the Post Office Dept. recommends four-cent stamps, insuring first-class mail treatment — meaning the card may contain personal messages, may be sealed and may be forwarded or returned.

To speed Christmas card handling, letter carriers and post offices will have free supplies of "local" and "out-of-town" bands about Dec. 1.

Harrison was treated in the Monroe County General Hospital for pellets in the right leg. He was released after treatment.

Philip Marano, 31, Ozone Park, N. Y., was fined $50 Saturday for a game law violation in Monroe County.

Marano was arrested in Eldred Township by Donald Whitcraft, deputy game warden, on a charge of hunting without a non-resident's license. Marano accepted Whitcraft's receipt after paying the fine in the field.

Highway Hazards

While the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania is concentrating on a road construction program that will give its residents and visitors highways that are second to none, existing roads must not be forgotten in the enthusiasm for superhighways.

One good point in example is Route 209 between The Stroudsburgs and Milford. While a major construction and widening project has been in the building stage for about a year, some of the hazards that exist during this period should be corrected.

One is the extremely dangerous portion between Marshalls Creek and Bushkill, where construction presents a definite hazard. All along the roadway, there are sections of one-way traffic which, although they are well marked with caution signs, are still not safe. Many of the sections for one-lane traffic cross over hills where it is absolutely impossible to see if anything is coming on the other side.

The type of heavy traffic that is found on this road, with huge tractor-trailers aplenty, makes one wonder why the hazard is not cut down by the use of a flagman at opposite ends of the affected sections and allow traffic to enter upon it in only one direction at one time.

Another dangerous facet of this highway is the section that has already been finished to the north of Bushkill. Although the roadway is in excellent shape, the fall-off from the road surface to the shoulders is four inches or more in some spots. The condition has resulted in numerous accidents, where the motorist tries to regain the roadway too quickly and loses control of the vehicle in the attempt.

This week a traffic safety inspection is to be made of conditions along this section of Route 209. It is to be hoped that it will result in a quick correction of these extremely dangerous conditions before any other accidents occur.

An Encouraging Start

The successful maiden test flight of the Saturn booster is an encouraging start down the long development road toward an operational moon ship.

But one should remember that it is only a start. The milestones along that road will be marked by many such test successes and by test "failures" too. The successful completion of the moon project will demand continued and understanding support by the administration, Congress and the public.

Saturn has, at times, been billed as the world's most powerful rocket. Certainly its design of one and a half million pounds of thrust will put the United States into a new space league when it is available. But it is hard to believe that the Soviets are not well along with the development of extremely powerful rockets, too.

One should also remember that, even when they are operational, neither this model of the Saturn nor later models, with three to four million pounds of thrust, will be powerful enough to land men on the moon. They might enable one to assemble a moon ship in an earth-orbiting orbit and to take off on a moon trip from such an orbit. But it will take much more powerful rockets than Saturn to enable a lunar expedition to set out directly from the earth. Such rockets are only in a drawing-board stage.

This is not to depreciate the achievement of the engineers in getting the Saturn test program successfully underway. They have made a magnificent effort and it is paying off.

Yet, while Americans cheer them on, it is well to remember that they need long-term support through all the vicissitudes that lie ahead of them, even more than applause.

Test In Berlin

The decision has been made by East and West that the test of strength is to come over the issue of Berlin. To many, this will appear to be an error. They would have preferred that the United States take its stand over Cuba or Laos or Taiwan. The die has been cast and we now face Soviet Russia at Berlin for a final decision. Both sides are moving into line.

The decision as to Germany was fixed by an international agreement signed in London on September 12, 1944. Representatives of the United States, the Soviet Union and Great Britain signed this agreement and it is still binding upon those nations. In due course, France joined them. In the Potsdam Conference the London Agreement was endorsed.

From the standpoint of international law, the position which we now take in Berlin is absolutely legitimate. The only proper way to vitiate this agreement is by a conference of the signatories to it for the purpose of amending or abolishing it. A unilateral change of this agreement by any one party to it has no legitimacy and can only lead to war. Actually World War I was fought over the issue of the unilateral violation of treaties and agreements.

The difficulty in the present situation is that whereas there is an agreement among the victors as to what they would do to the vanquished, there has been no peace treaty between Germany and the victors, although 16 years have passed. Furthermore, Germany has been divided into two parts, West and East Germany, and no peace treaty with a unified Germany is possible.

Also, during these 16 years, the Allies have broken their various alliances so that Soviet Russia is actually an enemy of the United States and the Western World. Whereas East Germany has become a satellite of Soviet Russia, West Germany has become economically and militarily perhaps the strongest in Western Europe.

These changes involve adjustments in theory and operations and are cause for the present disturbances, the worst of which is the wanton firing of bombs by Soviet Russia to the peril of the entire world. Soviet Russia seeks to deal with current political problems by testing bombs.

What Khrushchev wants to accomplish by a campaign of terror is to force the United States and the other Western powers to recognize that the unification of Germany is impossible, that there inevitably must be two Germanys, that the United States and the other Western nations must recognize East Germany as they recognize West Germany, and that they must withdraw their troops from German territory.

This program would establish the Russian conquest of Germany without further battle. It would bring Russian power to the Rhine and force France to accept Soviet hegemony without further war. It would eliminate Western influences from Western Europe. It would imperil the existence of the Scandinavian countries and Belgium. By a stroke of a pen the United States would find itself economically and politically isolated and would either accept isolation or would have to fight for its right to access to other countries.

Under the circumstances of a Russian victory of this nature, the United Nations would go out of existence or would be moved to Berlin or Vienna and would cease to be an independent parliament of man. Rather, it would become an agency of Russian power, a peril to the peace of the world. It would become a political monster.

This is precisely the situation that we face in 1961 with little prospect of an early solution for the problems that arise from the complexities that mount daily. No acceptable formula for the solution of current problems has appeared from any quarter. In fact, conferences and meetings have produced increasing confusion and preludes to disaster. It looks like war.

Veteran's Guide

Q—Can a veteran be advised as to his general non-medical benefits while he is a patient at a VA hospital?

A—Yes. Each VA hospital has a contact representative as a full-time member of the hospital staff to serve veterans in just such a capacity.

Q—Are veterans now returning to or entering the service given an opportunity to take out GI life insurance?

A—No. GI insurance policies are no longer being issued.

Q—What was the average number of patients treated in VA hospitals last year?

A—The latest figures are available for Fiscal Year 1961, which ended June 30, 1961. The Veterans Administration treated an average of 111,351 patients daily during this period.

The Pennsylvania Story

Congressional Redistricting

By Mason Denison
Harrisburg—Here is a story in contrast. Pennsylvanians unquestionably would do well to note.

Background: good old sluggish on-the-bail Pennsylvania has a heavy-handed chore on its hands. It must redistrict its congressional districts; that is, because of failure to keep up with other states' population, it must reduce from 30 to 27 the number of its congressional districts.

That means three congressmen are going to be dropped. The project must be completed by February or — appalling though it may be — the Keystone State's 27 congressmen next year will not be elected by their respective local districts, but every last one in a statewide at-large election.

A parallel in neighboring New York State the same 1960 census population scramble is forcing the Empire State to cut down its congressional delegation, too.

Mirror of Time

—by J. D. Shafer

10 Years Ago

Joan Fritz, Marcela Keiper, Marge Vallerchamp and Virginia Henderson, all of East Stroudsburg, were awarded first prize in the Halloween window decoration contest for their work on the Globe Furniture Store window.

Chester Miller was appointed sales manager of WVPO.

Jacob Kintz III gave a lecture to the Lions Club of Stroudsburg on snakes. He spoke of their living, reproduction and what made some of them vicious.

A New York City florist was fined $207 for picking Rhododendron on State Game Land 38, near Tannersville.

20 Years Ago

James Warner, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Warner, of Pocomo Lake was reported in good condition after being shot in the stomach. He was a patient in the Wilkes-Barre Hospital.

How many remember when Jake Altomero played his last football game for SHS? This was in 1931 and the reason this was his last game was because of a new age ruling in the league.

Members of the Methodist Church in Stroudsburg celebrated the 153rd anniversary of the church.

East Stroudsburg High's Soccer team defeated Matamoras 5-0 on the East Stroudsburg field.

Up there they're being reduced from 43 to 41 congressmen.

Thus both Pennsylvania and New York are in the same boat. They both face the same chore of "how" to do it.

In New York, Democrats and Republicans are screaming at each other on the routine, solid grounds that each is trying to cut out the other.

In Pennsylvania the screams are identical.

In both states of course it's a job for the State Legislature. That is to say, "officially", or perhaps constitutionally would be the better word, the responsibility rests with the legislative branch.

Contrasts: In Pennsylvania of course the question has degenerated to pap-flap wrangles and discussions between Republican and Democratic party political leaders—who constitutionally have no official standing whatsoever.

Yet these "non-official" gentry are being accorded the privilege, in actually, of performing the official chore for Pennsylvania! Governor Lawrence, the master political old pro, has made no bones over the fact that he will call the Legislature back in special session—after the November 7 elections—whenever the Republican and Democratic state chairmen hammer out agreement on the redistricting controversy.

(Note: the convening of lawmakers in special session to consider the reapportionment problem is not predicated by Mr. Lawrence on agreement between legislative leaders—but rather agreement between the non-official political leaders.)

Contrasts exemplified: (1) To date in Pennsylvania here is no idea "when" the Legislature will be convened by the Governor in special session to work out the redistricting problem.

On the other hand, back on Saturday, October 21, New York state Governor Rockefeller set the special session convening date as November 9 to thrash out the congressional redistricting problem.

(2) In New York State like Pennsylvania there is still no agreement on the redistricting front—but in contrast to the political party criteria being used in Pennsylvania for "solution" of the problem, New York State's Senate Majority Leader Walter J. Mahoney said, when questioned about reapportionment: "Whatever plan the majority (legislative majority, that is) decides upon will be the one that is passed."

The contrasts seemingly are striking. Perhaps Pennsylvania could well take a lesson from its neighbor to the north; perhaps a lesson from someone in order. And then again—well, voters of the Keystone State could take care of that next year!

Off The Record

By Bob Clark

"United we stand, divided we fall."

We doubt very much that the veteran organizations of Monroe County had this in mind when they joined together to form one unit. Perhaps, though they saw the feasibility of such a move, knowing their work is designed to cover the entire confines of Monroe.

The United Veterans of Monroe County is a young group. Started only a few months ago, the fledgling organization foresaw the possibility of banding together to get the most out of their community-wide projects.

The groups — George N. Kemp 346, American Legion, East Stroudsburg; Thomas P. Lambert 2540, Veterans of American Wars, Stroudsburg; West End Memorial Post, American Legion, Gilbert; Society of 28th Division, Stroudsburg; American Legion, Pocomo Lake; Evans-Blitz Post, American Legion, Barrett Twp.; 4041, East Stroudsburg; Military Order of Cookes, Stroudsburg; and Veterans of World War I, Monroe County — are dedicated to community service.

This is a far cry from the days when the Legion and VFW used to throw verbal punches at each other. The word bouts proved more harm than good as most members of the two groups will support. Now the boys, with their affiliations, are letting sound actions speak louder than words.

Now, don't get us wrong. The past performance of the Legion and VFW were molded to give the veteran the rightful place in his or her community. But always, it seems, a slight case of animosity, took away some of the sweet flavor others were trying to blend.

Maybe it was just human nature which caused this pulling of the teeth but in the long run more public relations were lost than gained over the years.

The United Veterans of Monroe County can reach two goals in their efforts to coordinate the minds of many into one:

1. Assure the community that the veterans have the welfare of Monroe in their hearts, actions and deeds.

2. Prove to the area that one strong organization is much more valuable than a string of units which tends to grope aimlessly at an answer.

The Legion, Veterans of Foreign Wars and associate organizations still are able to go on their merry way as individual groups, performing the worthwhile duties they were designed for.

As United Veterans, however, they will be able to serve their communities just as honorably as they did as united companies, battalions, regiments and divisions during World War I, World War II, and Korean Conflict.

The Allen-Scott Report

By Robert S. Allen and Paul Scott

Washington—The U.S. is exploring the explosive possibility of equipping the West German navy with a small fleet of Polaris firing nuclear submarines.

Under the proposal being discussed at the highest levels in both governments, the Polaris submarines would be built in the U.S. and then sold to the West Germans for dollars.

In addition to the German crews, specially trained U.S. naval personnel would be stationed aboard these "untouchable" submarines under a joint agreement guaranteeing U.S. control of atomic warheads used in the 1,200 mile range Polaris missiles.

Sale of four Polaris submarines at a cost ranging from $300 million to $1.2 billion is under consideration. These prices include the cost of the sixteen Polaris missiles which each submarine is capable of carrying.

These exploratory talks, launched earlier this year by Navy Secretary John Connally in a visit to Bonn, were extended to the recent discussions in West Germany between Deputy Secretary of Defense Roswell Gilpatric and West Germany's Defense Minister, Franz-Josef Strauss.

Members of the Joint Congressional Committee on Atomic Energy, which must approve any final agreement, reveal that no sales accord is expected until after Chancellor Adenauer visits Washington next month and probably not until after Congress convenes in January.

If finally approved, sale of the submarines will be included within the framework of an "agreement in principle" reached by Gilpatric and Strauss in their Bonn negotiations.

Under terms of this accord, West Germany has promised to speed up its rearmament and at the same time help the U.S. cut its international payment deficit by purchasing annually more than $600 million in arms in this country.

Building The Bundeswehr — In exchange, the U.S. is giving West Germany new assurances to supply Bonn's armed forces with a powerful nuclear delivery capability, including the Army's 500-mile range Pershing missile that is now undergoing final tests.

Only the delivery systems will be given to the West Germans. All nuclear warheads for the missiles will still remain under U.S. control.

Also, the U.S. is offering to integrate the two countries' military logistic systems in West Germany and to "sell" other types of late models of U.S. military arms, including tanks and planes, to increase the fire power of the Bundeswehr.

These West German armed forces, now five years old, passed the 210,000 point this month toward the goal of 350,000 men under arms by 1962. The West German navy received the first of twelve 350-ton conventional-type submarines being constructed in West Germany.

West Germany's Defense Minister Strauss wants the Polaris submarines to counter the Soviet missile threat in the Baltic.

He reports that the Soviets have armed their Baltic fleet with medium and short range rockets that could do tremendous damage to West Germany in case of a Soviet nuclear attack.

The defense minister gives this rundown on the Russian Maritime missile buildup:

"At present there are eight cruisers based in the bay of Leningrad fitted with equipment to launch intermediate range ballistic missiles, missiles which can carry a nuclear warhead."

"In addition, part of Russia's destroyer flotilla in the Baltic is being equipped with ground-to-air rockets and short range missiles for use against coastal targets."

"According to our information, the Soviets have around 70 destroyers in the Baltic, among them 45 destroyers of postwar construction, 150 submarines, 330 submarines hunting craft, and 200 torpedo boats."

Note: The West Germans would also like the U.S. to equip their small, 350-ton submarines with a ballistic missile smaller than the Polaris, but which still could be fired while the craft are submerged.

More Polaris News—A Polaris offer similar to the West German proposal will be made to France and Italy by the Kennedy Administration before the end of the year . . . The U.S. is having its problems with Great Britain over the Polaris submarine operations at Holy Loch naval base in Scotland. In case one of these submarines causes a nuclear accident, the British wants the U.S. to pay all damage costs and claims.

They are pressing the State Department to put this guarantee into a joint U.S.-British agreement. The State Department is taking the position that negotiations on this touchy subject should be delayed until after Congress acts next year on legislation to make indemnity coverage on nuclear accidents available outside the U.S. . . . The U.S. is offering West Germany a chance to participate in a joint research and arms development program that includes new weapons for use against submarines. . . . Within 30 days, the U.S. will have a total of six Polaris submarines in operation. Together, they carry a total of 56 IRBMs. All will be zeroed in on Soviet targets.

Inside You And Yours

The Certified Sickness

By Burton H. Fern, M.D.

How could certified raw milk make him sick? Pete only drank one glass. But that's enough to give you brucellosis—an infection caused by Brucella germs of cattle, pigs and goats.

About two weeks later Pete began to feel weak. The infection didn't strike with the shaking chills, feverish flush and complete collapse it often brings. Pete merely felt pooped. Soon his head throbbed and his neck ached. Night sweats drenched his bed. He'd wake up cool and chipper, but each evening his temperature steam-rolled up to 104 degrees, flattening him again.

After several days, the fever began to fade and return, fade and return. His temperature chart looked like a wiggling, undulating snake. Brucellosis is also called undulant fever.

Generalized Trouble
Pete wouldn't eat. Every bone ached. Sleepless and irritable, he'd explode with atomic fury when he had to take medicine.

Doctors were puzzled. They couldn't find any germs in his system. His blood contained no antibodies against Brucella infection. Later, when a second test revealed growing rivers of antibodies, doctors knew he had brucellosis.

Now they wheeled in the big guns—sulfa drugs and antibiotic germ-killers. Pete had to take these for a month and rest still longer.

Brucella bacteria are hard to reach inside body cells. But sooner or later they surrender.

Every Organ Infected

While Brucella germs attack every human organ, in cattle they stay mainly in milk glands and expectant wombs. Because infected cows calve prematurely, the cattle germ is called Brucella abortus.

Brucella abortus doesn't bother expectant mothers any more than other germs.

Protective Measures
Farmers, meat packers, butchers and veterinarians are often exposed to infected animal products, but rubber gloves protect and special vaccinations shield them.

Vitamins, rest and nourishing foods all helped Pete recover.

He's still confused about certified milk. No one's told him it's certified against tuberculosis, but not brucellosis!

Dr. Fern's mailbox is wide open for letters from readers. While he cannot undertake to answer individual letters, he will use readers' questions in his column whenever possible and when they are of general interest. Address your letters to Dr. Fern in care of this newspaper.

About Town

An old-timer sat on the river bank, obviously awaiting a nibble, though the fishing season had not officially opened. The game warden stood behind quietly for several minutes. "You the game warden?" the oldtimer inquired.

"Yup."

Unruffled, the old man began to move the fishing pole from side to side. Finally, he lifted the line out of the water. Pointing to a minnow wriggling on the end of the line, he said, "Just teaching him how to swim."

Fire Plug Finder

The neighborhood kids had congregated in our front yard when a fire truck zoomed past. Sitting on the front seat was a Boxer dog. The children fell to discussing the dog's duties on connection with the fire truck.

"They use him to keep the crowds back when they go to a fire," said a five-year-old girl.

"No," said another, "they carry him for good luck."

The third, a boy about six, brought the argument to an abrupt end.

"They use the dog," he said firmly, "to find the fire plug."

Try and Stop Me

Railroad Stations look more and more dilapidated in these days of disappearing passenger trains. Tom Moody tells about a millionaire who bought a large estate near one of these whistle stop stations on a neglected branch line. From a mail order house he ordered a prefabricated chicken coop and when he received word that it had arrived, set out in a truck with his butler to bring it home.

No one was about when he spied the coop along the right of way, and he soon had it loaded in his truck. Half a mile up the road they passed a little man in blue who had "Station Master" written on his cap. "Stop that car," ordered the little man angrily. "What do you think you got on that truck?" "My new chicken coop," explained the millionaire. "Chicken coop, my eye!" cried the station master. "That's Grigsby Junction."

MR. MICHENER says—"The only issue facing all of the voters of Pennsylvania this November 7th is, in my opinion, above politics. We have an opportunity to keep a great jurist on our State Supreme Court Bench.

"JUSTICE ANNE X. ALPERN is the first woman to serve on our State's highest court, just as she was the first woman City Solicitor and Attorney General in the country.

"As a lawyer and public official she fought hard to obtain justice for the consumer and the average citizen.

For the third straight week Michigan State has been voted the No. 1 college football power by the Associated Press' 47-man committee of sports writers and sportscasters.

ESSC Climbs To 2nd Place In PSC Loop

JOHNSTOWN, Pa. (AP)—West Chester in the Eastern Division and Clarion in the Western Division continue to lead their sections of the Pennsylvania State Colleges football conference after five weeks of play.

West Chester, the defending conference champion, is unbeaten in three league games and has 267 rating points. The Rams own an overall 5-1 record. East Stroudsburg, with a 3-1 conference mark and 212 points, trails West Chester in the East.

Clarion was held to a tie last Saturday by second place California but the Eagles held first place in the West with a 3-0-1 record and 225 points. California is 3-1-1 and has 190 points. Slippery Rock makes it a three-team race with a 3-1 record and 183 points.

The three-way race between Clarion, California, and Slippery Rock will not be determined until the final scheduled games on Nov. 11.

West Chester is highly favored to repeat by winning at Bloomsburg on Nov. 11. However, a Bloomsburg upset coupled with a Mansfield win over Kutztown and Bloomsburg win over Cheyney could give East Stroudsburg the championship on rating points.

The standings:

No 300 Games In Britain Yet

LONDON (AP) — American-style bowling has become a craze in Britain since its introduction a year and a half ago—but it still hasn't produced a perfect 300 score.

Perfect games are very difficult even in America, but they happen now and then. Some great bowlers have scored a dozen or more.

Four big companies operate 14 bowling centers in London. An example of the enthusiasm for the sport can be seen from the fact that in the first half of the year at one bowling center half a million games were rolled.

There have been a few 200 games, but no one yet has succeeded in getting 12 straight strikes (all 10 pins down on a British alley).

Texas and Alabama followed in third and fourth positions as last week, but Ohio State moved into fifth place when Iowa dropped to ninth after its 9-0 defeat by Purdue. Texas had six first-place votes and Alabama two.

There was a shuffling among the last five teams but the only change saw Notre Dame, beaten by Northwestern 12-10, drop out of the top ten and be replaced by Missouri, a 10-0 winner over Nebraska.

Fifth Straight

Michigan State strengthened its position by thumping Indiana 35-0 for its fifth straight. The Spartans face a major test at Minnesota Saturday.

Mississippi, which enjoyed a 47-0 romp over Vanderbilt for its sixth straight, gets down to serious business Saturday night at Louisiana State. LSU moved up to the No. 6 position by beating Florida 23-0. The only team to beat LSU was Rice in the season opener 16-3.

Texas smashed Rice 34-7 for its sixth straight and headed toward a Saturday date with Southern Methodist at Dallas. Alabama also ran its winning string to six by beating Houston 17-0 and made ready to entertain Mississippi State.

Ohio State, unbeaten but tied once by Texas Christian, advanced to fifth by downing Wisconsin 20-21. The Buckeyes have an important date Saturday with Iowa at Columbus.

Georgia Tech also moved up, taking seventh place after drubbing Tulane 35-0 with Florida next in line. Tech's only defeat was LSU 10-0.

Colorado Rolls

Colorado continued unbeaten and untied by knocking off Oklahoma 22-14, and advanced to the No. 8 spot.

Pairings of top ten teams this week include Mississippi (No. 2) vs. LSU (No. 6), Ohio State (No. 5) vs. Iowa (No. 9) and Colorado (No. 8) vs. Missouri (No. 10).

The top teams, with season records and first-place votes in parentheses, are:

1. Michigan State (11) (5-0)	437
2. Mississippi (8) (6-0)	403
3. Texas (6) (6-0)	387
4. Alabama (2) (6-0)	325
5. Ohio State (4-0-1)	267
6. Louisiana State (5-1)	199
7. Georgia Tech (5-1)	183
8. Colorado (4-0)	142
9. Iowa (4-1)	83
10. Missouri (5-0-1)	65

Others receiving votes: Minnesota, Notre Dame, Purdue, Utah State, Northwestern, Kansas, Penn State, Auburn, Syracuse, Rutgers, Wyoming and Arkansas.

DELAWARE Water Gap Rod and Gun Club will meet tonight at 8 p.m. in the firehouse to elect new officers.

Varsity "S" To Present Grid Games Under Lights

THE VARSITY "S" football program will present the final games of the 1961 season under the lights at Gordon Giffels Field Wednesday night beginning at 7 p.m.

There were only four teams in the Varsity "S" program this year and all the team members may get a chance to play in the finals.

For Some Injuries

Face Guards Put To Blame

By CHARLES CHAMBERLAIN
Associated Press Sports Writer
CHICAGO (AP) — Athletic Director Forest Evashevski of Iowa called attention Monday to the prevailing face guards of football helmets as possible cause for mounting football injuries and fatalities this season.

Evashevski prefaced his views by telling Chicago's American Quarterback Club that football injuries had sidelined two of his sons for the season.

Frosty, a sophomore Michigan quarterback, was lost early in the campaign with a knee injury that required surgery. Jim suffered a head injury while playing for the Iowa City High School team.

Also a Tipton, Iowa, high school senior, Gale Chapman, died at the University Hospital in Iowa City Sunday of injuries suffered Oct. 18 in football practice. It was the state's third football death of the year and raised the nationwide count above 25.

"I think nose guards on helmets today might attribute to the cause of injuries and that possibly too much attention is being given to protection of the nose and teeth," Evashevski said.

"With that protruding bar, it's like putting seat belts in an auto and saying: 'Now go ahead and drive as fast as you want.'"

"The head is not meant to be placed in a meatgrinder. I think players feel that with that bumper in front of their face they can stick their heads into heavy traffic."

"I've heard that boys even have been told: 'Go ahead and stick your face into your opponent's chest and we'll polish off the rest.'"

"I wonder if equipment now used is making players more reckless. In the old days, players were taught how to position their heads in blocking and tackling to ease the jarring effect and prevent injuries. It might be well to try to turn a critical eye on how kids are positioning their heads."

Stuckey will meet Carl Kohl, Tom Sommers, and next week's winner in the men's first semi-final match.

Carmen Archer will meet Peg Goldy, Mary Fedin and next week's winner in the ladies first semi-final match.

These semi-finals will be broadcast by WVPO on February 18.

Orange Loses Another Player
SYRACUSE, N. Y. (AP) — Pete Brokaw, starting right halfback for the Syracuse football team, suffered a ruptured spleen in an automobile accident Saturday night and probably will not play again this season, the university announced.

The 200-pound senior from Nyack had replaced injured Co-Captain Dick Easterly in the Orange lineup.

Easterly, also a senior and a former quarterback, has been out of action for three weeks because of a broken bone in his left hand.

Irish Coach Favors Annual Army Series
NEW YORK (AP) — Joe Kuharich, Notre Dame football coach, said Monday he favors an annual Army-Irish game at Yankee Stadium.

Speaking to newsmen after a meeting of the Touchdown Club, Kuharich said he is looking forward to a renewal of the series with Army. The two schools are scheduled to meet in 1965 and 1966 and in 1969 and 1970 on a home and home basis. The '65 game is a Notre Dame home game and the '66 game is to be played in Philadelphia.

Col. Emory S. Adams Jr., Army's director of athletics, who was present, said as far as he knows Army would not object if Notre Dame wanted to shift one of its home games with the cadets to Yankee Stadium.

"I would like to see us play every year in New York," said Kuharich. "The Army-Notre Dame game surpassed all bowl games. I am speaking only for myself but I think Moose Krause (Notre Dame athletic director) feels the same way."

Col. Adams said he does not know of any plans for reviving the Army-Notre Dame on an annual basis but indicated the two schools appeared to be moving closer together again.

Notre Dame and Army, long annual rivals, broke off their series in 1947. They met again in 1957 and 1958 but have not played since.

Losses? (Phew) 61-0, 80-0, 58-0

Unhappily We Roll Along, — To 8th Winless Season

By DALE BURGESS
Associated Press Sports Writer
TERRE HAUTE, Ind. (AP) — Rose Poly's football team is well along toward its eighth winless season (not, happily, in succession).

But it's a matter of slight concern to the management of this highly respected engineering college, whose graduates have been hired to the last man in years when a high proportion of other new engineers were begging for work.

Rose Polytechnic Institute, its full name, provides excellent athletic facilities for anybody who wants to use them. It does not recruiting, has no athletic scholarship, and makes no allowance in its scholastic program for sports practice time.

In short, it's death in the afternoon for Coach Max Kidd, who took the head football job three years ago after coaching four undefeated high school teams in a long career at Brazil and Bicknell, Ind.

End of World
"Every Saturday is like the end of the world," he says.

"I have a squad of 20 men, only one weighing 200 pounds. The last two games, 15 of them have been able bodied. We lost our last quarterback a couple of games back and had to shift from the wing T to the single wing.

"There are seven or eight fine football players on the campus who were regulars one or two years and then had to give up football because their grades began to slip. There are other good ones who never even have come out for football.

"I could pick a team off the campus, give it three days practice, and lick our varsity as bad as other colleges have been doing," Kidd asserts.

The linkings have been 70-0, 58-0, 61-0, 52-6, 43-0 and last Saturday, by Earlham, 80-0. The one touchdown, against Concordia of River Forest, Ill., was a pass from Don McNally to Ed Zaeglein.

The 48-0 defeat was by Elmhurst of Illinois, which had lost 34 straight games and was the only team Rose beat last year.

"It's rough," Kidd says, "but you have to admire these kids. They must like to play football!"

Cavalier Hits For 87 Pts.
The 12 points gives the Bushkill senior 87 points this year—4 points better than the mark set by Bob Kupiszewski who tallied 83 points in 1954.

Gridiron Briefs
Bud's Buddy Handicapped???
DURHAM, N.C. (AP) — While Coach Bud Wilkinson is suffering through an 0-5 football season with former national power Oklahoma, his son Jay is breaking records for Duke.

The versatile Blue Devil sophomore has smashed two Atlantic Coast Conference punt return records and tied a third, with four games to play.

Young Wilkinson has returned 12 punts 252 yards. The previous record of 239 yards was set eight years ago by Eddie West of North Carolina State on 23 returns.

Against N.C. State last Saturday Jay tied the single game record with six returns for a total of 160 yards, 65 more than the old mark. Included in his day's work was an 82-yarder for a touchdown.

The first time he handled the ball, against Virginia in the team's second game, he caught a punt and dashed 63 yards to a touchdown.

The 180-pounder was a quarterback in high school at Norman, Okla., and for Duke's freshman team last year. But Coach Bill Murray is well-stocked at that position and switched Wilkinson to swing end, Duke's version of the lonesome end, and safety man duties on defense.

Roger Maris failed to put the ball out of the infield in his first seven times up in the first two 1961 World Series games.

Britisher Wins Brazilian Open

He wound up the 72-hole tournament with 70-66-66-70-272 over the par 68 Gavea Country Club Course overlooking the South Atlantic.

Runnerup was Brazilian Mario Gonzalez with 75-64-68-69-276.

Toyshop Boxing Show Cancelled
CLEVELAND (AP) — The annual Christmas toyshop boxing program will be abandoned this year after 35 years.

Promoter Larry Atkins said the traditional affair was dropped because of a lack of prize fighters to make up a program which would be profitable.

For years, the toyshop program was sponsored by the Cleveland News and its sports editor, Ed Bang. Proceeds were used to benefit underprivileged children at Christmas time.

He has held other offices in the association and is presently treasurer. He is the Bible secretary of Gileads and chairman of the executive board of taxpayers Assn.

Questions
What aspect of your office do you consider most important?
"Close contact with your organization and all others that represent the people, plus kind, courteous consideration of individuals to determine the will of the majority. My platform is economy, but not penny wise and pound foolish. Not such strict economy that people can't have what they want."

Since the Delaware River Basin Compact is now an accomplished Act of Congress, do you favor planning and zoning on a county basis at this time?
"I always favor progress. As I see it, planning and zoning have both advantages and disadvantages. If objectionable features could be removed I would highly favor it."

Sixth Ward
NAME: William Schnaitman
ADDRESS: East Stroudsburg
AGE: 43
PARTY: Republican
EDUCATION: Bangor High School

Questions
What aspect of your office do you consider most important?
"The burden of taxation. Citizens should know what their money goes for and should be able to exert some effective control over public expenditures, otherwise the prosperity is apt to be seriously crippled and many manufacturers who would otherwise come into town would stay away due to high taxes."

Since the Delaware River Basin Compact is now an accomplished act of Congress, do you favor planning and zoning on a county basis at this time?
"I do not favor planning and zoning, but I do believe the entire board should go and knock at doors to get a personal reaction from the taxpayers to find out if they favor planning and zoning. It should then be put on the ballot and voted on by the taxpayers."

REFERENDA
The five questions on the ballot at this election are proposed constitutional amendments. As required by the State Constitution, these amendments have been passed by two consecutive sessions of the State Legislature. In order to become law, each must be approved by a majority of those voting on the question.

1-A
Shall Section Sixteen of Article Three of the Constitution of Pennsylvania be amended to permit cash refunds of taxes, licenses, fees and other charges paid or collected but thereafter found not legally due and payable without appropriation from the fund into which they were paid, on warrant of the proper officer?

Under the present law, a taxpayer who has overpaid a tax, license or fee, or who has been required to pay a tax, license or fee which he does not legally owe, is limited to receiving a credit toward future taxes or partitioning for a refund.

After authorization of the refund, actual payment depends upon whether departmental appropriations are adequate to cover these refunds.

The State pays no interest on the monies received in error. If this amendment passes, a citizen entitled to a refund may be paid immediately.

2-A
Shall Section Three of Article Four of the Constitution of Pennsylvania be amended to allow a Governor, other than the one in office when this amendment is adopted, to succeed himself for one additional term?

According to the constitution of Pennsylvania, a Governor may not succeed himself. This amendment provides that a Governor may be eligible for reelection for one additional term but does not apply to the governor presently in office.

3-A
Shall Section Twenty-one of Article Four of the Constitution of Pennsylvania be amended to cause the term of the Secretary of Internal Affairs to begin on the third Tuesday of January next following his election?

This amendment would allow the term of office of the Secretary of Internal Affairs to coincide with that of the Governor who is elected at the same time.

At present, the newly elected Secretary of Internal Affairs takes office in May following his election in November.

4-A
Shall Section One of Article Nine of the Constitution of Pennsylvania be amended to permit exemption from payment of all real property taxes upon the residence occupied by citizens and residents of Pennsylvania who served in any war or

Employment Is Less Than 1960 Figures

UNEMPLOYMENT during the two-month period ending Sept. 15, 1961, was approximately 24 percent higher than the comparable period of a year ago. John P. Dougherty, manager of the Stroudsburg office, Pennsylvania State Employment Service, said last night.

Dougherty said, "The principal reason for the increase was Worthington Mowers moving from the area."

The Sept. figures show that the local office processed 312 regular claims for unemployment insurance against the comparable week in 1960, of 239.

In addition there were 33 continued claims filed under Temporary Extended Compensation. This program was not in effect in 1960.

During August and September the office accepted 435 new applications for work, received 742 job openings and placed 552 persons in non-agricultural employment.

Senior Class Of Eastburg Selects Play
THE Senior Class of East Stroudsburg High School has selected an old fashioned melodrama entitled, "A Fate Worse Than Death" as its class play. It will be presented Nov. 10 at 8 p.m. in the high school auditorium.

In the cast are Gwynne Jones, Bob Posten, Rosemary Jones, Joe Lyons, Anne O'Connell, Dick MacIntire, Marilyn Miller, Sandy MacLeod, Barbara Albert, Linda Morgan and Regina Treibler.

The play will be directed by Gilbert Dunning. He will be assisted by student director, Joan Repchak.

Tickets for the play may be purchased from any member of the class.

armed conflict in which the United States was engaged, if they were honorably discharged or released under honorable circumstances from active service and if, as a result of military service, they are blind, paraplegic or double or quadruple amputees, and if the State Veterans' Commission determines that such persons are in need of the specified tax exemption?

This section of the constitution of Pennsylvania states that all taxes shall be uniform upon the same class of subject. An amendment is necessary to allow any exemptions. This proposal would exempt certain classes of veterans from paying all real property taxes.

5-A
Shall Section One of Article Fourteen of the Constitution of Pennsylvania be amended to permit county treasurers to be elected to succeed themselves?

All County officials are specified in the Constitution of Pennsylvania. At the present time it is only the County Treasurer who may not succeed himself in office. This amendment provides that a County Treasurer may be eligible for reelection.

QUESTION OF THE WEEK ...
Q. Will the cost of Blue Cross dues ever be stabilized?
A. As long as general wages continue to rise and patients continue demanding improved hospital services, hospital costs will continue to rise. Therefore, Blue Cross must get enough money to pay hospitals what it costs to serve its subscribers.

The Daily Investor

Been Misinformed

By William A. Doyle
Q. I brought a $1,000 Series H, U.S. Savings Bond, because I thought it paid 3 1/2 percent interest. But now I am informed that a $1,000 H bond pays $8 interest the first year, $14.50 the second year, $16 the third year and $20 a year thereafter. Doesn't this figure out to less than 3 1/2 percent?

A. If that was the interest schedule on H bonds, it would figure out to less than 3 1/2 percent. But that is not the interest schedule. You have been misinformed. Read on and we'll try to get this straight.

A Series H saving bond is a registered bond. When you own one, the U.S. Treasury Department sends you an interest check every SIX (repeat, SIX) months.

For the H bonds now being offered to the public, the interest schedule on a $1,000 bond follows:

The first interest payment, six months after you buy the bond, will be $8. The second, six months later, will be $14.50. The third, six months after that, will be $16. Then, every six months, the interest payment will be $20. The bond matures 10 years after the purchase date.

So, over the life of the bond you will collect one interest check for $8, one for $14.50, one for $16 and 17 for $20 each—for a total of $378.50 in interest. Because this is a 10-year bond, this figures out to an average of $37.85 a year.

The Treasury Department states that the interest rate on Series H bonds is "approximately 3 1/2 percent, if the bonds are held to maturity."

But an average interest collection of $37.85 a year on a $1,000 bond figures out to 3.785 percent. The Treasury calls it "approximately 3 1/2 percent." It's really a bit higher than 3 1/2 percent.

Q. The company for which I work gives its employees the opportunity to purchase company stock, at 10 percent less than the going market price and without any brokerage commission. I have about $50 to spare each month and am wondering if I should use this money to buy stock this way or to reduce the mortgage on my home. May I have your thoughts?

A. Anyone who reads this column should know, by this time, that I am a great believer in paying off a mortgage. I firmly believe that a home, free and clear, is the best investment (both financially and for peace of mind) for the average American family.

However, I am also a great believer in employee stock purchase and stock option plans. Anyone who has the opportunity to take part in such a plan (in stock of a good company) is foolish not to do so—even if it means delaying the prepayment of the mortgage.

Everything depends, of course.

Q. I have a $1,000 Series H, U.S. Savings Bond, because I thought it paid 3 1/2 percent interest. But now I am informed that a $1,000 H bond pays $8 interest the first year, $14.50 the second year, $16 the third year and $20 a year thereafter. Doesn't this figure out to less than 3 1/2 percent?

A. If that was the interest schedule on H bonds, it would figure out to less than 3 1/2 percent. But that is not the interest schedule. You have been misinformed. Read on and we'll try to get this straight.

A Series H saving bond is a registered bond. When you own one, the U.S. Treasury Department sends you an interest check every SIX (repeat, SIX) months.

For the H bonds now being offered to the public, the interest schedule on a $1,000 bond follows:

The first interest payment, six months after you buy the bond, will be $8. The second, six months later, will be $14.50. The third, six months after that, will be $16. Then, every six months, the interest payment will be $20. The bond matures 10 years after the purchase date.

So, over the life of the bond you will collect one interest check for $8, one for $14.50, one for $16 and 17 for $20 each—for a total of $378.50 in interest. Because this is a 10-year bond, this figures out to an average of $37.85 a year.
